Coleman High School Students Receive Awards at Ceremonies

MICHAEL KINNAKIN

CYNTHIA BOND

DOLORES RYZNAR

WESLYN DUNFORD

ELAINE HEREFORD

ARLENE MARCONI

Thirteen Coleman high school students were presented with scholarship awards at an occasion held in the Coleman high school auditorium Friday afternoon before a gathering of several hundred students and guests.

Master of ceremonies at the affair was principal of Coleman schools, Horace Allen, who, in a short address, gave a resume of the accomplishments of Coleman students over the past year. He also outlined the growth of the Scholarship Day at the Coleman schools since the Coleman Elks Lodge began the affair by sponsoring the first scholarship award.

Past Exalted ruler of the Coleman Elks Lodge, Henry Zak, was called upon and after congratulating the two winners of the Elks Award, Miss Weslyn Dunford and Michael Kinnakin, of the grade nine room, he presented them with cheques.

Mrs. Henry Zak, president of the Coleman branch of the Home and School Association, was called upon by Mr. Allen and on behalf of the Association, presented James Dibble with a cheque for having attained the second highest marks in grade nine. The occasion marked the first year this award was sponsored.

Mrs. M. Johnson, Reg. N., on behalf of the Crows Nest Local of the A.A.R.N., then presented the award sponsored by the nurses for the girl in the Crows Nest Pass schools obtaining the highest marks in grade twelve, and going into the nursing profession. Since winner of the award, Miss Jackie Krish, now in training at the Calgary General Hospital, was unable to be present, the award was accepted by her father, Mr. F. Krish, who expressed thanks for "Jackie".

Mr. Henry Zak, on behalf of the Coleman School Board, then called on four students and presented them with cheques totalling $100. Winners were Paulette Rypien and Elaine Hereford, who tied for first, and Dolores Ryznar and Arlene Marconi, who took the next awards. Ted Kryzka, a school teacher, and president of the Coleman Lions Club, was then called upon and on behalf of the Lions Club, presented Mrs. Kay Ferschweiler, Sandra Holyk and Cynthia Bond with scholarship awards for the highest marks in grade eleven.

Mrs. Edith Nelson, Honoree Royal Lady of the Coleman G.O.R.P., was then called upon and on behalf of the lodge called upon Mr. F. Krish to accept the $50 award on behalf of his daughter "Jackie", who attained the highest marks in grade twelve.

Mrs. C. Ritchie, representing the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Crows Nest Pass Municipal Hospital, was called upon and presented a scholarship award for the girl attaining the second highest marks to grade twelve, who was making nursing her career. In the absence of Miss Sharon Kilgannon, now in training, the award was accepted by her sister, Miss Patricia Kilgannon, who expressed thanks for her sister.

While making the presentation each of the representatives of the sponsoring groups expressed congratulations to the winning students, who, in brief but expressive talks, thanked their teachers, parents and their classmates for their help and competition shown during the year and lastly thanked the sponsoring organizations.

To conclude the successful event, Principal Horace Allen expressed thanks to the organizations for having sponsored the fine scholarships. He spoke words of encouragement to the students, pointing out that the Alberta Government has a fund of some $300,000 set aside for worthy or deserving students who wish to go to university.

Mr. Allen pointed out that the government did not just give this money away but that the students had to show some initiative in their work and have an average of 60 per cent or better in their high school.

Summit Lime Works Accident Fatal

Charles Dragan Vidakovic, age 49, employed at Summit Lime Works here, died in the C.N.P. hospital on Tuesday morning from injuries sustained in an accident at the plant on Tuesday.

It was reported that he was knocked down by an empty truck while the vehicle was being backed up to be loaded with rock, he was standing behind the truck when the accident occurred, the vehicle passing over his body.

Driver of the truck was John Rinaldi of Coleman. Coroner Dr. Fred Russel of Blairmore said an inquest will be held.

Mr. Vidakovic was a drill man and had been employed by the company for the past 11 years. He was born in December, 1910, in Yugoslavia, coming to Canada after the Second World War. He has no known relatives in Canada.

Western Board Of Music Award

The Scholarship committee of the University of Alberta committee on music announced last week that James Montalbetti of Coleman had been awarded an Alberta Provincial Government bursary of $100. A silver medal in music was also won by Ralphina DeLuca of Coleman, for Grade 1.

Fire Brigade To Hold "Bike Derby"

The Coleman Volunteer Fire Brigade are this week completing plans for a Bike Derby to be held in the Coleman arena on Thanksgiving Day, October 12th.

The firemen will sponsor three major prizes for the Derby, and events will be open to Cubs of the Crows Nest - Pincher Creek district. Entries in the affair will include riding a straight line, riding over a teeter-totter, riding through an obstacle course to be built by the firemen, throwing a bean bag at a target while riding and the final test will be the slow speed control which will see the entries ride their bike down a course with the last one across the line to be the winner. The Derby will be a good test of control for the riders of two-wheel bikes and will also encourage young people to learn and practice riding for better control of their bikes, which in turn leads to safety.

Margaret Siska Receives Degree

Margaret Siska, 22-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Siska of Coleman, graduated and received her Bachelor of Science Degree in Pharmacy at the University of British Columbia this spring.

Margaret has attended the UBC for the past four years after having completed her public and high school in Coleman.

She speaks, reads and writes fluent German, French, Slovak and English. She has now accepted a position in a Vancouver drug company. Miss Siska had the pleasure of meeting both Mr. and Mrs. John Diefenbaker and has since their meeting received several cards and photos from them.

SHAME
FEAR
(of the consequences)
IGNORANCE
(of the situation)

If any of these three words represent the state of mind of a householder with respect to fire safety and the voluntary home inspection program of the community they should be forgotten.

This is the earnest message today from the Fire Chief, who announced details of the campaign for Fire Prevention Week, October 4 to 10. It would, he said, be the greatest rally ever. The slogan — Don't Give Fire a Place To Start. The Fire Chief elaborated his "philosophy of persuasion" by which he hopes that the community will co-operate in rooting out "careless causes" of fire in the home, to make our town one of the "fire safest" places in Canada, for size and population.

Can Succeed

"We can succeed," declared the Chief. "If we have the help of every man, woman and child in spreading the idea that fire prevention is a personal matter. It needs only the acceptance by each individual of responsibility in the elimination of simple fire hazards." The Chief came back to his three key words—shame, fear, ignorance—which, he said, usually applied in "reluctant causes".

"Few of us like to show an untidy house to callers. Yet, a tidy house seldom burns. So why wait until the fire fighter calls to clean out rubbish, old papers and the like? And as to fear of real or fancied consequences, no one is going to be 'put on the spot' as far as we are concerned."

"Of course, if our visit uncovers something terribly dangerous—especially to the lives of others in the home or next door—responsibility should be met both by the householder and by ourselves. Surely no one can quarrel with that. And as to ignorance of fire and its causes, why not treat the fire fighter like you would a doctor, as a friend, realizing that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure—and in this day and age of fancy gadgets, new chemicals and such, remember that the fire fighter has lots himself to learn. So let's say, that in a sense we're all in the same boat and let it go at that, not only for Fire Prevention Week but for every day and week of the year."

Welcome Reception

The Chief told of the remarkable co-operation given by citizens when uniformed members of his department made courtesy calls at their homes, to suggest ways and means whereby the family might without inconvenience, expense or other involvement, rid themselves of these hazards. Instances besides trash and rubbish, were improper electrical fusing and faulty heating equipment.

"There's nothing fancy in successful fire prevention. Like most else in life, it's mainly a lot of little things," the Chief said.

Pensioners Hold Regular Meeting

The regular September meeting of the Old Age Pensioners was held on September 7th in the Elks hall.

The regular business was attended to. The Charters was draped in memory of Ernest Hill, second vice-president. A report of the convention held in Fort Macleod was accepted as read, same being read by Mrs. S. Penney.

Pensioners pine and buttons were on display. Anyone wishing to purchase one, please get in touch with Mrs. Ethel Kostelnik. After the meeting bingo was played, and a lunch was served by the hostesses.

Mr. Poxton, 46, died in Crows Nest Pass Municipal Hospital, Friday, September 18, after a brief illness. He was born in Middlecliff, Yorkshire, England, October 26, 1913, and came to Coleman with his parents 36 years ago.

Mr. Poxton worked in the International Mine of Coleman Collieries until it shut down a few years ago, after which he was employed with the Michel mine of the Crows Nest Pass Coal Company.

He was predeceased by a son Roy.

Walter was of a quiet, friendly nature and will be missed by his many friends.

Those from out of town attending the funeral rites was Mr. Tom Poxton, brother of the deceased, of Seattle, Wash.; Constable J. Weirama and wife from Calgary; Mr. R. Weirama of Redcliffe, brothers of Mrs. Jean Poxton; his mother-in-law, Mrs. Weirama, and a younger brother, Simon Weirama from Vulcan, and Mr. and Mrs. F. Anderson of Medicine Hat. Pallbearers were Messrs. E. Gaudmundson, E. Johnson, T. Sudworth,

Six-year-old Child Hit By Car

Little six-year-old Rose Mary Baczovsky of Coleman, is making favorable progress in the Crows Nest Pass Municipal Hospital this week following an accident that occurred shortly after 1:00 p.m. on Friday afternoon.

The little girl was enroute to school after her lunch hour and was walking on the sidewalk parallel to the number three highway when a little friend called to her from across the road. Without further notice Rose Mary ran across the highway into the path of an oncoming west-bound car driven by John Kleivinski of Coleman.

Fortunately Mr. Kleivinski was travelling at a low rate of speed and was able to stop the car on the spot. He rushed the child to the Crows Nest Pass Municipal Hospital where she is being treated for cuts, abrasion and a light concussion.

Joe Trost, J. Hanrahan and C. Townsend.

Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Percy Dodd, following the service the cortege proceeded to the Coleman Union cemetery. Hall's Funeral Service were in charge of arrangements.

Card of Thanks

We would like to thank Doctors Aletto, Stevens, Stewart and Russell, also Maizon and staff of the Crows Nest Pass Hospital for their kindness to my husband and our son, Walter, during his illness; also to the people who were so kind during our recent sad bereavement and to those who sent flowers and cards and loaned cars, or helped in any way.

Thank you very much,
Mrs. Jean Poxton and family,
Mr. and Mrs. J. Poxton.

RIGHT TURN, CCF

Some years ago a leading CCF-er wrote a book called "Left Turn, Canada." It was a well-written but poorly reasoned book, but Canada wasn't paying much attention. Even the CCF party, instead of turning left, began to veer a shade or two to the right.

It doesn't seem more than a couple of years ago that they ditched the old Regina Manifesto.

It was only yesterday that they began to state openly that nationalization, one of their pet theories, must also be ditched except when drastic measures are called for.

In other words, the order of the day for the CCF and their friends has been a decided, "Right Turn."

This is all to the good. Nationalization, like most socialist schemes, won't work well either in agriculture or industry. Farmers manage their farms as well as they can; industrialists run their industries to the best of their ability. Both are motivated by a desire for profit and an eagerness to serve. Neither farmers nor industrialists are angels, perhaps, but one will get you ten that they are as good as or better than politicians and bureaucrats, morally and intellectually, on any issue with which you care to confront them.

Indeed, there is quite a body of opinion holding that political socialism is immoral. This does not imply that individual followers of a political socialist party are personally immoral, but that they have been misled into attempting to further a fine cause by shady methods.

To share with one's neighbor, for example, is a fine and highly moral idea. It loses a good deal of its moral tone, however, if one's notion of sharing with one's neighbor involves stealing those of his possessions which are in excess of one's own. Socialism, as a political force, makes no bones about its intention of doing that very thing.

Political socialists, it seems to me, can also be charged with preaching hatred. They seem determined to set class against class.

The new party, if it is to succeed, ought to appeal to higher motives. Otherwise, it will fail to get a large following of common-sense Canadians who simply want a country that is well and honestly governed. Canadians are not likely to elect many candidates on a platform that involves hatred, seizure of property, or anything that goes against the moral grain.

Of Many Things

(by Ambrose Hills)

I'M STILL CHECKING

Back in July, when CBC's annual Report came out, I found some things in it which disturbed me and would disturb most readers, I am sure.

Because, in the past, the CBC Press & Information Service has suggested that I would be less critical if I would only take a few minutes to "check my facts with the CBC." I decided that I would again try doing that. On the 29th of July, I sent them this letter.

"The CBC annual report came this morning, and as I told you on the telephone, I tried to find out what is paid in performers' fees for the year in the domestic service. I could not find it in the Report. Could you please get it for me; I am writing on the subject in my column OF MANY THINGS, by Ambrose Hills. I also note that in the International Service, salaries are up quite a bit while performers' fees are down. I don't care for this trend at all, particularly if it includes script writers, and I think there is something radically wrong if the same situation applies to the domestic service. After all, the show is the thing. Also, I plan to complain about the increase in Press & Information expenditures to more than a million and a half dollars—an increase, I think, of almost 70% over 1967, the year I first complained about it. During the same period, expenditures on programs increased only 28%. Is there any justification for this difference? And I would also like to know what percentage of the Press & Information monies are spent on direct advertising, because I suspect it is too small a percentage of too large a sum. Best personal regards, etc."

On September 4th, getting ready to write my column, I telephoned CBC to ask if the information was ready yet. It was not, but they assured me they are working on it and that it will be forthcoming.

However, when one sets out to check for facts with CBC, one must be very, very patient. Just at night, and I'll get their answer to you as soon as I receive it.

Be Wise . . .
Take Care Of Your Eyes

The above slogan has been used time and time again by The Canadian National Institute for the Blind in its prevention literature. It is a slogan, we believe, that merits repetition. Although the C.N.I.B. is geared primarily to serve blind people, and has carried on a rehabilitation program for over forty years, it is also keenly interested in the prevention of blindness.

The Canadian National Institute for the Blind maintains that in a country as prosperous as ours, no person threatened with blindness should be denied the care of an eye specialist. If any person has a serious eye condition that may lead to blindness and cannot afford medical care for the same, The Canadian National Institute for the Blind will take steps to make certain that this individual receives proper medical attention. The C.N.I.B. has also, in recent years, organized an Eye Bank in Canada, with branches in Toronto, Montreal, Winnipeg and Vancouver. It is planned to open a branch of this Eye Bank in Edmonton in the near future. Since the Eye Bank was started a few short years ago, over two hundred Canadians have had full or partial sight restored through its services.

An educational program is also carried on the year round to make the public more conscious of eye care. One pair of eyes must last you all your life. Take good care of them. You have the most wonderful eyes in the world.

For those, however, who are unfortunate enough to lose their sight, the C.N.I.B. offers Home Teaching, Employment, Library and Social Service, as well as many other concessions that will make their lot in life a little easier. To carry on such a program, as well as its prevention work, the Institute has had to depend on you, the public, for support, and it can be said that you have never failed. In Coleman and district, the Order of the Royal Purple are sponsoring the annual C.N.I.B. appeal. May we ask that you give it your whole-hearted support. Your dollar support is needed so that The Canadian National Institute for the Blind can continue to help our sightless friends gain "Victory over Blindness."

Annual Reunion Of Calgary Highlanders

CALGARY, Alta. — Veterans of the famous Calgary Highlanders will descend on Calgary from points throughout Western Canada, on October 31st and November 1st.

The regiment which established an enviable record in Europe during World War Two, will hold its 15th annual reunion and Walcheren dinner in the Hotel Palliser on Saturday, October 31st. Sunday morning, November 1st, they will participate in a remembrance church parade and memorial service.

Speaker at the reunion dinner will be Arthur R. Smith, MP for Calgary West, and himself a veteran. At the outbreak of the war Mr. Smith was a member of the 15th Alberta Light Horse, but he served overseas as a Pathfinder pilot with the RAF, winning the Distinguished Flying Cross.

More recently, he has been chairman of the House of Commons Defence committee and a member of the Canadian delegation to United Nations.

Air Conditioning
Benefits Heart Disease Patients

Patients with heart disease who must be hospitalized in hot weather are greatly helped by air-conditioning of their rooms, according to a report from the American Medical Association received by the Health League of Canada.

Two physicians, Drs. George E. Burch and Nicholas DePasquale said that heart patients are helped because air-conditioning eliminates sweating, which causes the cardiovascular system to work harder than usual. Thus, it prevents additional strain on an already damaged heart.

They said that air conditioning of hospital rooms is also especially helpful to patients with chronic illnesses and with bronchial asthma.

The doctors pointed out that air conditioning as an adjunct to regular treatment "has not received the emphasis in medical literature that it deserves."

They compared two groups of patients treated at Charity Hospital, New Orleans, in air-conditioned and non-air-conditioned wards.

They found that air-conditioning benefited most patients, although a few could not stand it at all. They complained of the cold and of having "stuffy" noses.

The air-conditioning was beneficial to patients mainly because they slept more soundly, longer and more restfully. Patients who were short of breath found it easier to breathe, thus relieving anxiety and apprehension.

On the whole, air-conditioning "eliminated sweating, fostered a calm and quiet atmosphere, improved morale of both patients and attending personnel, removed allergens from the environment, and increased the tolerance of enforced bed rest," the doctors concluded.

Western Canada
Coking Coals

Western Canada coal resources can meet all the requirements of the west's iron and steel industry, N. Berkowitz, Associate Research Officer of the Alberta Research Council told a two-day iron and steel symposium in Edmonton Tuesday. In his paper to the group, Mr. Berkowitz dealt with Western Canada coals in relation to iron and steel fuel requirements. He paid particular attention to the characteristic properties of coking coals—a group of particular importance to the iron and steel industry.

The symposium, sponsored jointly by the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, and the Alberta Research Council, was called to discuss the technology of iron ore reduction processes. Also considered was material resources for the production of iron and steel in Western Canada, together with possible markets for these products.

The best known and most intensively mined coking coal occurrences in Western Canada are those located in the Crow's Nest region Mr. Berkowitz said. In Alberta these are located near Blairmore and Coleman; in British Columbia near Michel and Fernie. Total recoverable reserves are estimated at approximately two billion tons for the Alberta region, and four billion tons in British Columbia. A second major coking coal deposit lies in the Mountain Park area of Alberta, about 120 miles northwest of Banff. Here, recoverable reserves are estimated at about 1.4 billion tons.

Other coal bearing strata in Alberta's "inner foothills belt"—Oldman, Highwood, Cascade, Panther, Clearwater and Nordberg, are not considered coking coals.

Mr. Berkowitz pointed out, however, that recent surveys in the area have revealed hitherto unsuspected coking coal deposits although it is not yet known how extensive they are.

Additional proven coking coal deposits in the west are found in the virtually unexploited Peace River area; Telkwa in central British Columbia, and on Vancouver Island.

The Alberta Research Council officer, who has spent over 12 years in coal research work and has published 38 research papers, reported that several of the Western Canada deposits are sufficiently massive and of such quality as to sustain an iron and steel industry for an indefinite period.

Mr. Berkowitz delved briefly into the principles by which marginal coking coals can be used for coke production. He also made reference to the role which non-coking coals are beginning to play in several modern metallurgical operations.

No Elections In Coleman

Nominations Day in Coleman, on Wednesday, September 23rd saw all vacant seats on hospital, school board and town council filled by acclamation.

John Salus and John Owen were returned to office on the school board, while the two vacancies on town council were filled by Angelo Toppino and Walter Dibblee. Stu Murdoch was returned as Coleman's representative on the Board of the Crows Nest Pass Municipal Hospital, while Steve Mraz will represent Ward Two East Coleman on the Board.

Home and School Meet

Some 65 Coleman parents attended Coleman Home and School meeting held in the main school this week when Steve Ondrus, vice-principal of the Coleman school, gave an interesting address on the importance of grades nine and ten to a student's high school years.

During his informative talk Mr. Ondrus also informed the meeting that there was a total of 564 students enrolled in Coleman schools.

Mrs. Anna Jones was appointed as the Coleman delegate to represent Coleman at the Banff Workshop to be held in the Banff School of Fine Arts from October 20th to 23rd inclusive.

Mrs. Mildred Zak was appointed to represent the Home and School and to present a $15 scholarship to the boy or girl receiving the second highest marks in the Coleman grade nine class.

The parent attendance prize was won by the T. Kryczka room and a cheque will be awarded to the teacher to purchase an object of use for the classroom.

It was announced that the next meeting would be held in the Coleman main school on Monday, October 19th. Guest speaker at this affair will be an official of the Highway Traffic Board. All parents and interested persons are invited to attend the affair.

Scout And Cub News

A meeting of the Coleman Lions Scout and Cub group committee was held on Thursday, September 11 in the Grand Union banquet room.

During the course of the evening Mr. M. Dunford, Scoutmaster, gave an account of the activities of the Boy Scouts, covering hikes, skating, parties and instruction.

The highlight of the year was the summer camp where 17 boys experienced the enjoyment of sleeping in the woods, swimming at McBain Lake, cooking over open fires and hiking. The friendly atmosphere and ability to do for themselves was only topped by the praise of the adults at McBain Lake, on the boys' discipline and mannerly conduct. A vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Dunford on his wonderful support and also for sacrificing a week of his own holidays to be with the boys.

Thanks also are extended to all those who helped or assisted in anyway to make the camp the success it was.

Seventeen boys attended the bronze arrowhead camp at Allison Creek Shelter which was also a complete success.

Mr. Howard, the treasurer, gave his report and it was suggested that this be published to give the public an idea of costs of operation.

Scouts and Cubs are renewing meetings with a good attendance again reported.

With the passing of Mr. W. Kubion the Group committee has lost a dedicated worker, and the young people have lost a staunch supporter and friend. We hope that we may be able to carry on with his remarkable enthusiasm for any project that involved young people.

Through the generous response of the public of Coleman, the Boy Scouts bottle drive on Saturday, September 26 was extremely successful with the boys collecting some $100 beer and pop bottles.

For Scout purposes some $115.00 was received on the sale of the bottles. The thanks of the boys and the Coleman Lions Scout and Cub Group committee, goes out to the public and to the many willing outsiders who gave their assistance.

The next bottle drive will be conducted shortly after the turn of the New Year and it would be appreciated if the general public would keep this in mind and retain their bottles for this worthy cause.

During these Scout drives the bottles should only be turned over to boys in the uniform of a Scout. There have been instances of late where people have given bottles to boys, believing them to be in the Scout movement.

The Group committee would appreciate hearing from any adult who would like to spend a little of his time or her time assisting the Scoutmaster or Cubmasters in their duties or to become a member of the Group committee. This is a very fine movement for the boys but as usual lacks from sufficient adult help.

Handicraft and Antique Display

The Senior Ladies' Group of St. Paul's United Church, Coleman, held a very fascinating exhibition of antiques and novelties from Pakistan, Indonesia, Spain, Holland and the British Isles and other countries.

There were paintings and photographs from several local artists, as well as handicrafts, beautiful hand polished lamps and shades, made from Elk skins and hand-painted also copper work, plastic foam craft and hand made quilts which took first prize at the Toronto exhibition in 1956.

Tea was served by the group. A vote of thanks was extended to all who contributed and made it such a success.

Correction Notice

On September 22, 1959, a press story on the possible location of a steel plant in Western Canada was in error. The published report should have read in part:

"Dr. Lawrence E. Kindt was retained as an Economic Consultant by West Canadian Magnetic Ores Ltd." (and not by Stewart and Lloyds and Schneider et Compangie, as reported).

Annual CPR Tour To The "Royal Winter Fair"

Typically western and growing each year in popularity, the Canadian Pacific Railway's seventh annual "Royal" train to the Royal Winter Fair at Toronto, is expected to move more than 350 prairie farmers and stock breeders to a show which has justly earned the title of being the biggest of its kind in the world.

The semi all-expense tour leaves the three western provinces November 12-13 and provides a minimum of six days in Ontario. It has become an annual farm party in which individual family groups informally organize their own fun on the CPR special, see all main events at the big fair, enjoy conducted tours in Ontario. Last year 320 prairie residents made the trip.

The tour this year will include season admission tickets to the fair and reserved seats for the internationally famous horse show, tour of Toronto and environs and visit to Casa Loma, inspection of two model farms near Toronto, trip to Niagara Falls, optional trip to the Ontario Agricultural College and Ontario Veterinary College at Guelph. For the first time there is an optional tour of the international section of the St. Lawrence Seaway, followed by visit to Ottawa.

The CPR special to the Royal Winter Fair has been described as "the only convention on wheels on the continent — a most enjoyable journey in an atmosphere which prepares everyone for complete enjoyment of the greatest show of its kind on earth."
